WE'LL NEVER FORGET

1947 AT FRANKFORT HIGH

NINETEEN hundred and forty-seven was a trying year, not only to the seniors of Frankfort High School, but to the entire world. The students worked hard to prepare themselves to become leaders of the world of tomorrow, but meanwhile balanced their programs well with social activities.

We of the Cauldron staff have tried to present a living picture of the studies and extra-curricular activities which took place during the year, the classmates, and the teachers who have helped us so much during our four years here. It has been our goal to capture, both by picture and by word, the image of Frankfort High School as it is. Therefore, we take great pleasure in presenting this, the 1947 Cauldron.

FRANKFORT, INDIANA

F. H. S. has the distinction of being one of the few schools with two main buildings. A tunnel is used in bad weather.

Music Hall is also in use constantly by the band and orchestra.

Howard Hall has been host to many athletic contests.

... the bus in the morning. A happy load of schoolmates tumbling out in the street. The driver's cheery "hello," as he picks you up at the lane. The way he peers out the window, driving with his nose an inch above the steering wheel. The warmly-bundled bodies after school. "I have to ride on the bus." Yes, riding on the school bus really has its advantages. ... the mess our lockers were always in. It was almost a pleasure to have a locker stacked. That way we had an excuse to clean them out. Between classes we would stand at them, telling jokes, pulling puns, and exchanging notes. We were always coming up with a library book we had last semester instead of the book we were looking for. And after seventh period we threw our books in in haste and confusion, while we decided whether to spend 53 cents on a record or 5 cents on a coke, and we left our lockers the same as we found them.

. . . passing to and from classes each day in the crowded halls. One would note the friendliness which prevailed among the students by the big smiles on their faces and their friendly greetings. There was always someone shouting "Hey, Joe, wait for me, will ya?" About then we would pass the home economics laboratory, and the fragrant aroma of food would float out into the hall. Now we would see a friendly little conversational group who had stopped to chat in the hall and were told politely to move on to avoid congestion in the halls. As we stopped to look at posters advertising the coming dance, someone would tap us on the shoulder and with a twinkling in their eye would recall and relate to us some funny little event. About then we noticed someone playing a slightly mean prank on someone and then . . . two members of the opposite sex would come strolling down the hall casting sweet glances at each other, deeply engrossed in their "puppy love." Yes, all these scenes will be recalled in later years as events that happened in the halls of F. H. S.

. . . those pink slips! That hunting trip wasn't a good enough excuse, eh, Eddie? Here students who have been absent from school present their excuses to the deans to get an admit to class. In case of illness or a death in the family, an excused white slip is issued and work may be made up within a reasonable time. Yellow slips are given for any other excusable reason. Work may be made up with the teacher's permission. Pink slips are issued for unexcused absences with a three per cent deduction from the six weeks grade in each class. Blue slips are given after school begins if it is necessary for a student to leave school.

. . . those studious hours spent in the library. Students find the library a valuable asset, not only for those welcomed study periods, but also for much-needed reference material. They have a wide selection of carefully picked books from which to choose. Juniors and seniors may report to the library instead of the study hall.

... the rush to the cafeteria at noontime. The "friends" who asked, "Let me in front of you, will ya?" The disappointment when you do let the friend in, and he gets the last dish of peaches. But there is not likely to be a shortage of peaches because the Home Economics canned both peaches and tomatoes for use in the cafeteria.

There are two cooks, Mrs. Pitman and Mrs. Roth, needed to prepare the food, and they do an excellent job. Seven or eight girls leave their classes early to help serve the food and one boy acts as cashier. There is always a variety of food on the menu. But the biggest and most disagreeable job in some people's estimation is the one that comes later. Yes, the dishwashing. But the cafeteria does have a mechanical dishwasher.

The cafeteria has not only seen noon hour rushes, but also Friday night dances and even a style show, and the ice box has housed cokes for such.

. . . the Friday night basketball games, the tenseness of our long afternoon classes, the hurried rush home so that we could return in time to get our favorite seat, the friendly ticket-taking teachers, the "Roaring Five Hundred" showing its loyalty to the team in victory or defeat, the antics of the cheerleaders urging us to yell for victory, the band playing "Three Cheers for Dear Old Frankfort," the baton twirlers who worked so diligently to put on the colorful shows for us at half-time, the Sunshine girls with their candy and ice cream bars, the crowd's roaring when Frankfort hit to gain the lead, the dances held in the cafeteria following the game, the kids gathering at Aughe's afterward to discuss the game or the new dates over a coke, the fourth period pep sessions where we gathered to learn new yells or to improve old ones, the clever skits put on by the members of the pep committee—"Lord God of Host be with us yet, Lest we forget! Lest we forget!"

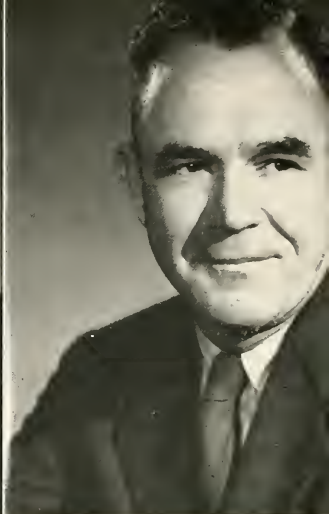

... the fun at the dances. The band usually blowing our ears off with their faster pieces and putting us in the mood with their slow ones. The decorations everyone tried to get before they were all gone, the band was at their best and the music smooth, a few couples proclaimed it the best dance of the year.

... that after-school rush to Aughe's. Crowding, with five other coke addicts into one teensy booth. (It is when the two extras squeeze in.) Sipping cokes and relating the day's gory details. Then at five (mother said to come right home) we reluctantly left for home. Then after supper, when we had to go to the library, we'd meet our cronies again. Boy, we could really sling the dirt and Aughe's was the place to do it.

ADMINISTRATION

MR. WOODRUFF

Firm but always with a friendly smile and cheerful word, S. M. Woodruff, who undertook his duties as principal here only this year, proved quite capable and well liked by both students and faculty. Although he was required to be out of the office much of the time attending personally to his duties in various parts of the school plant, he was never too busy to help a student solve a problem or to cooperate with a member of the faculty on some matter of importance.

Doing always what was right, but being fair and considerate to everyone, Mr. Woodruff saw that the school was managed properly and efficiently.

MRS. HEATON

One of the most important and time-consuming jobs in the school is that of Dean of Girls, and Mrs. Oma Heaton managed to fill the position quite well this year as she has for several years.

Besides giving much of her time to the girls and working on the attendance reports, she found time to teach a full schedule of Spanish classes and to be sponsor of El Club Espanol.

MR. ROHRABAUGH

Being Dean of Boys, head of the Athletic Department, sponsor of the F Club, sponsor of the Cauldron, sponsor of the senior class, head football coach, and teaching social science seems almost too much for one man, but somehow Raymond Rohrabough, more commonly known as "Buck," managed to find enough time to serve quite capably in everyone of these capacities.

ENGLISH

Every morning at eight-twenty the senior English class assembled in Miss Kearns' room and the students let their imaginations travel to the past and to England for the study of English literature. Starting with the ancient Celts and Normans, the students studied the great men of literature from then to modern England. A visit to Purdue Music Hall, where the pupils saw Maurice Evans in his portrayal of Shakespeare's "Hamlet" greatly enhanced the study.

LANGUAGE

... "all Gaul is divided in three parts." How familiar that sounds to a Latin student. Yes, many hours were spent pouring over gerunds and gerundives made clearer by little stick people, with carrot noses. The same people sometimes appeared on tests. "Super duper." And remember in Spanish Class at Christmas time, how we broke the pinate with the stick? Our language department has brought in pictures and slides showing habits and customs of the peoples. In taking Latin or Spanish, we were not only studying a speech of a people, but the joys and sorrows, the very life of the people besides. In Latin we found that Caesar had weaknesses, and that Romulus, builder of Rome, fell in love with a Sabine girl. In Spanish we learned the problems and history of the Mexican people. Through Latin we learned that although some of the small things have changed, the fundamental needs and sensations have not changed in this hundred years.

MUSIC

... the day that the long-awaited Hammond organ finally arrived. In the summer of 1946 it was formally dedicated to Frankfort High School by an organ recital given by Miss Ruth Noller of the Pearson Music Company of Indianapolis. Miss Noller played musical selections by Chopin, Brahms, de Bussy, and others.

The organ was purchased by the Sunshine Society. By selling greeting cards and Frankfort Hot Dog signs to be put on license plates, and with much help from the Sunshine alumni in sponsoring a benefit show, the Society raised money to make the final payments on the organ.

Any student entering high school has one great opportunity, and this is, to be taught to play the organ. All any student need do is to say he would like to play the organ, and he will get his wish.

A new teacher was added to the faculty especially to teach this new subject. He is Mr. Ross, who came here from Chicago, Illinois. He graduated from DePauw University, receiving his bachelor degree.

The organ has played a big part in our many convocations throughout the year.

Our senior class of 1947 has the honor and distinction to be the first class to march to the music of the Hammond organ at graduation time.

ART

... the excitement of making the first chalk portraits. Miss Gallup, supervisor of the art department, tries to teach not only art work but art appreciation. The art class, this year as in previous years, made chalk portraits of the members of the senior class play. They also made chalk portraits from life. Miss Gallup tries to encourage outside work and gives it credit.

PUBLIC SPEAKING

... that after a speech contest at Lebanon two of our students came back with top honors for themselves and for the school. Pictured are our two great student speakers of Frankfort High who both won first place honors in the Central Indiana Oratorical Contest this year. Joanne Toeppe and Wallace McGill have both shown outstanding talent in the field of public speaking, and the school is proud of them.

MATH

... the procedure and exactness our teacher required on our lessons. But that very same exactness helped us in more ways than one, and in more ways than we realize. This exactness is a quality of better thinking. And better thinking promotes better living, not only in the classroom, but in school and at home.

The mathematician has qualities of a good citizen. An interest in the subject is as necessary to one as to the other. The ability to think clearly are requisites for both. Applying usefully the knowledge gained is a benefit to each. The mathematician not only uses his reasoning mind on math problems but on everyday problems as well.

Many persons, when asked why they don't continue with math, say it is dull. But even fanciful English does not hold the fascination of a theorem or the satisfaction of solving a tough problem. From math we can take the ideals for the mastery of a problem or a situation of a life.

SCIENCE

... our dear friend, "The Frog!" As freshman we carefully studied the frog and dissected it. This six weeks' study of the frog was to establish a basis for understanding human anatomy, physiology and health. Biology is the name applied to this phase of science. The student has a better understanding of nature as this first major step brings him nearer to the biological world by student participation. This is a much more efficient method of learning than getting all the information from books. Above all, this form of study trains the students to do systematic work. In the spring they study and collect leaves and flowers. In the fall trees, weeds and different types of shrubbery are studied and learned by each biology student. The student may go on into the study of science. Mr. Hanger and Mr. Lowe teach biology. Mr. Hanger is the head of the science department.

A medal is given annually to a senior boy or girl who has taken three years of science in Frankfort High School and has made good grades and has shown outstanding ability in the field of science. The winner is chosen by the faculty of the science department.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

. . . the time we went to the state legislature. The fun we had on the bus. The heat at the senate. The noise at the newspaper plant. The interviews in the broadcasting station. We enjoyed watching the procedure in both houses. The high point of the visit, however, was the trip to the Scottish Rite Cathedral. The beauty of the building held most of us awed. We also visited the Soldiers and Sailors Monument.

Another trip through the city governmental offices was planned for the later spring. A tour of the courthouse was made, and interviews were conducted with persons holding public offices.

We went from the study of the Federal Government through the state government to city and township government. Special reference books that were put out by the state were used while we studied Indiana government. They also told of the city and township control, Indiana state parks, penal institutes, hospitals, sanitoriums, schools for disabled, and others.

COMMERCE

... the click-click-clicking of the typewriters. All of the different phases of a business education are taught in the business department of our high school by Miss Irene Carfield, head of the commercial department, Miss Helen Thomas, and Miss Evelyn Bond. In the picture all the types of business studied are represented. This is a secretarial training class at work. As you can see, one girl is using the dictaphone, another is filing, one is taking shorthand dictation, and another is typing.

Bookkeeping is also represented here by the student using the adding machine. All of these studies help to prepare the student to be a bookkeeper, secretary, or to do any job of that kind connected with the studies taken in school by the student. With additional college training after graduation from high school, the student may prepare for a career in accounting, business administration, law, insurance, store management, selling, commercial teaching, statistical work, banking, or other selected fields.

... the fragrant aroma of food being cooked in the home economics laboratory. The laboratory is composed of three parts, the dining and living room, and the clothing and food laboratories. The food laboratory is composed of eight unit kitchens. In December three electric stoves, two electric refrigerators, and one electric automatic washer were installed. This course in homemaking is given to prepare the girls to be successful homemakers in later years.

SHOP

... the day we started to cut away our motor in shop class. There are two shop classes, wood and metal. The chief work of the wood shop was designing and building model garages and houses. Last year the metal shop received an airplane motor. This year they cut away the front of some of the moving organs so the movement could be watched. The wood shops also made some bright wood blocks for the kindergartens .

WE'LL NEVER FORGET . . .

the CLASSES

S E N I O R S

Under the competent leadership of their sponsors, Miss Hilda Kearns, Miss Doris Knox, and Mr. Raymond Rohrabauqh, and the officers picture above, the senior class had quite an active and successful year.

The class sponsored the first dance of the year after the Richmond football game, and as they left the school, spent over two hundred dollars on shrubbery for the beautification of the campus.

The class did not know when they entered high school four years ago as a war class just exactly what the future had in store for them, but they worked industriously so that they might be prepared for whatever they had to face when they received their diplomas. When the war ended, they worked on earnestly for they knew that they were to be citizens of the world of tomorrow and they had a great task before them.

Baccalaureate services for this graduating class were held on Sunday evening, May 18, and the honors and awards were bestowed on Class Day, which was held on Wednesday afternoon, May 21. At last the great moment arrived on the next evening, Thursday, May 22, when the class received their diplomas and faced the world alone.

 One Saturday afternoon.

J U N I O R S

This year's junior class worked very hard on the annual Junior-Senior Prom and their diligence proved quite worth their while. Under the leadership of their officers, Merrill Fishback, Kenneth Ayers, Robert Elliott, and Julia Ricker, and their sponsors, Della Maud Sanders, Irene J. Carfield, and Wayne Shockney, the class worked on the various committees to stage one of the biggest and best proms ever held.

"Moonlight Aloha" was the name of the dance and the decorations followed out the theme of a south sea island. The affair was held in Howard Hall as usual.

Dances seemed the predominant activity of the class as they sponsored an informal Friday night dance after the second home football game of the year.

Members of the class did quite well for themselves individually, too. Several proved exceptional in the field of athletics while others kept themselves in the limelight in public speaking and dramatic activities.

the ACTIVITIES

SUNSHINE SOCIETY

"With love in my heart, forgetting self, and with charity for all, I will make the object of my life helpfulness and kindness to others . . ." this in part is the creed which is followed by the members of the Sunshine Society. The Frankfort chapter of the Sunshine Society was organized in 1911, making it one of the oldest service organizations in school, and the third oldest in the state. Membership is extended each semester to all girls who have reached the ninth grade or beyond. The purpose of the club is to sponsor friendship and better understanding among girls. This year approximately 265 girls were members of the society. A candle light initiation ceremony was held for all the new members during the second semester.

As usual, the business of the club was carried on through an extensive use of committees which are appointed at the beginning of the year by the officers and sponsor. As many girls as possible serve on these committees in order that each girl has a part in the work of the club. Thus each girl feels that her services are needed and wanted. Most of the club's activities this year were concerned with making money to finish paying for the Hammond Electrical Organ which the group bought last year. In addition to their usual work of selling candy and ice cream at the basketball games, the girls also sold Hot Dog license plates around sectional tourney time, and with the aid of the past members of the organizations, the girls sponsored the "Sunshine Varieties," a home talent stage show. The twenty cents dues of the club were collected as usual. Part of this money is used to pay the state dues of the chapter, the rest is used for contributions to various worthwhile funds, the main one being the Riley Hospital Fund.

The club's officers were Dorothy Knox, president; Phyllis Henson, vice-president; Jo Ann Ferrell, treasurer, and Julia Ricker, secretary. Miss Marie Van Horn was the sponsor of the organization.

Shown grouped around the new organ are the girls who sold the most tickets for the Sunshine Variety Show. Seated is Beverly Hood, who played the instrument at many of the functions.

One of the most important activities of the organization is the selling of candy and ice cream at the home basketball games. This has been carried on for many years and every girl who wishes to may sell.

One of the largest rooms in the school plant is needed to hold all the members of the Sunshine Society. Shown on the right is a cross section shot of the group during one of their meetings.

"Clean Speech; Clean Sports; Clean Scholarship; Clean Living." So goes the slogan of the Hi-Y Club, and with this as their guide, the boys of the club have completed another successful year.

The purpose of the Hi-Y Club is "To maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian Character." Their objective is: "Health Betterment; Mental Development, Spiritual Enrichment; Service Achievement." During the year just completed, the boys have lived up to their purpose, objective and slogan by attending church once a month in a body, by conducting several important convocations for the students, and by setting a good example for the rest of the student body to follow.

This year their annual formal dance was held in the fall and, as always, they held their annual spring picnic shortly before the close of school.

At the beginning of each semester the club conducts a book sale for the benefit and convenience of the students. During the football season the club operates the concession stand at the football field. On Mother's Day they sent flowers to the mother of each member.

The club is affiliated with the State and National Hi-Y Fellowship. During the year they sent delegates to the State Y. M. A. C. Older Boys' Conference at Kokomo and to the district meetings at Lafayette and Logansport.

Business meetings are held during the third week and educational meetings are held at night.

This year's Student Council had for its officers: Phil Coughill, president; Laird Jacoby, vice-president, and Kemit Baumgardner, secretary-treasurer.

The council made many commendable improvements around F. H. S. this year. Although Mr. Woodruff sat in on all of the meetings, the meetings were conducted mostly by the students themselves. If a stranger would have stepped into one of the meetings he might have thought he was in a debating class. There were many lively discussions about things pertaining to school life.

One of the club's accomplishments was to buy records for the Student Council dances. The council also kept the recreation room supplied with records. They made some rules for the general behavior of the students. They passed a rule stating that attendance at dances should be limited to our students, graduates, and their individual guests. A committee was also appointed for the purpose of appointing monitors in the halls at noon. The monitor system was just an experiment. It turned out to be a very satisfactory system.

The Student Council sponsors the dances on the nights none of the other clubs has one. With the money the council has made on these dances it plans to buy a record-player and donate it to the school.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

One of the most outstanding and most respected organizations in Frankfort High School is the National Honor Society. Its members are chosen on the basis of their character, scholarship, leadership, and service. They must also be in the upper third of their classes. The members are chosen from nominations made by the members of the faculty. These nominations then are passed on by a committee selected by the principal. The principal and sponsor neither nominate nor vote. Only juniors and seniors are eligible for membership. Elections are held twice a year; once in the fall which elects only seniors, and again in the spring when juniors and seniors are elected. Members are governed by rules and regulations which are set up by the national constitution. This society functions with the purpose of creating and fostering the principles upon which it is based. Instead of holding meetings during the activities period, the group convenes for a monthly luncheon which is held in the school cafeteria.

The society is a nation-wide organization with its headquarters in Washington, D. C. In 1933 a chapter was organized in Frankfort High School by Mr. Russel Earl. This year's officers were George Hamilton, president; Charles Mettlen, vice-president; Jean Meifeld, treasurer, and Donna Doane, secretary. Miss Verda Knox was the group's sponsor.

CAMERA CLUB

Any underclassman who is interested in photography is eligible for membership in the Camera Club. Its purpose is to teach its members the care and use of camera as well as the developing of films and prints. The club also studies enlargements and recent developments in photography.

The club was organized not only to furnish its members with a useful and entertaining hobby but to acquaint them with the many different phases of photography.

New equipment of the members was discussed at the meeting and several of the members gave reports to the group.

But it was not all study. Under the direction of Mr. Belcher, sponsor of the organization, a picnic was held this spring.

MATH CLUB

The Math Club is composed of students having had two years or more of math and who are definitely interested in higher mathematics.

This year, under the direction of their sponsor, Miss Della Maud Sanders, head of the mathematics department, the group sponsored the first dance of 1947 after a Friday night basketball game and continued to send letters of school activities to the servicemen.

At the meetings, various members of the club gave reports on the different phases of mathematics.

FORENSIC CLUB

The Forensic Club, whose purpose is to instruct its members in parliamentary procedure, was another club which had a busy year.

The organization sponsored a convocation for the entire school at which Mrs. Irma Dunbar entertained with dramatic and humorous readings, sponsored a dance after a Friday night basketball game, and held a covered dish supper in the cafeteria in the spring.

An initiation ceremony was held in which twenty-one members were taken into the club. At the meeting various members gave talks on parliamentary procedure.

Mrs. Redmon was the sponsor while John Tedford served as president; George Goodnight, vice-president; David Michael, secretary; and Bob Irick, treasurer.

MAJORETTES

The majorettes were also featured during half time and gave outstanding demonstrations with both the lighted baton and speed twirling.

On Armistice Day they played for the American Legion program held in Howard Hall.

On March 29, at Ball State Teachers College, Muncie, Indiana, the brass sextet, brass quintet and four majorettes participated in the District State Solo and Ensemble Contest. The sextet won first division and two of the majorettes placed first in their division. The quintet placed in second division and the other two majorettes won seconds. The first division winners competed in the final State Solo and Ensemble Contest at Indiana State Teachers College at Terre Haute. The band participated in the State Band contests at Indiana University on May 3.

On one Sunday afternoon in the spring, the band presented a public concert in Howard Hall. They also presented concerts for each of the grade schools before the close of school this spring. On April the 18th the band played for the Girls' Physical Education Demonstration in Howard Hall. During the spring they played for the baseball games and for the track meet held here on May 13.

During the year a pep band was formed to attend the out-of-town basketball games. The purpose of the pep band is to bolster the morale of the team at these away-from-home games. The String Quartet met weekly to work on longer and more difficult forms of string music. This year besides their regular appearances before the student body, they have appeared in Frankfort churches and on a Riley Grade School P.-T. A. program.

STRING ENSEMBLE

The String Ensemble held rehearsals daily to study various types of orchestral and chamber music. The Ensemble played for various school functions including the annual broadcast over radio station WASK, Lafayette, and at various civic functions.

C H O I R

The High School Choir has been very active this past year. They practice at call meetings during school and of evenings whenever necessary. This year they sang for the annual broadcast over radio station WASK, Lafayette, for the Christmas program, at a Kiwanis Club luncheon, and for a Kyger P.-T. A. program. At the District Choral Festival at Lebanon on April 29 they sang a special number. Then, as always, they sang for the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

Frankfort High School is very proud of its bi-weekly newspaper. A staff of twenty-five members were responsible for each four-page edition, which included the news page, two feature pages, and the sports page.

As for the past five years, Miss Hilda Kearns served as faculty advisor. Jean Meifeld was editor-in-chief, and Pat Farrell assisted her.

The staff held the second annual Coronation Ball, April 18. At this time a king and queen were elected to reign for the dance.

Experience on a high school paper is valuable, not only for the journalistic training, but because it teaches the student responsibility of meeting a deadline.

L A T I N C L U B

One of the largest clubs in school, the Latin (Curia Latina), has presented several entertaining programs this year for the benefit of the members and students of Frankfort High School. Among them were "Rex," "Sabine Brides," and an Easter program. The plays were written, dramatized, and the costumes made by the students.

This year, for the first time, a formal initiation was held. The upper classmen were in charge of this impressive ceremony and conducted the new members through the beautiful service. In this service, the freshmen put aside their tunics and assumed their cognomen.

Other interesting activities were the Thanksgiving Dana, a speech on Atomic Bombs by Wayne Guthrie, and the motion picture, "Backwards to Civilization." Another interesting moving picture was shown by the club for the benefit of the entire school. The name of the picture was "Journey Into Faith," a Cathedral film about the story of Jesus Christ and his followers, and of the crucifixion of Jesus.

The office of Counsel Primus was taken by Kenneth Ayers this year. Consul Secundus was George Goodnight. Robert Elliott was Questor and Richard Thornton was Scribus.

SENIOR PLAY

This year the senior dramatics class started a new trend by choosing a different type play. Instead of the usual June-moon type of play, the class selected "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" by Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough. The story was dramatized by Jean Kerr.

The play is about two young girls who cross the ocean and visit Paris all by themselves. Their mishaps are many and hilarious.

Emily Kimbrough and Cornelia Skinner were played by Joanne Toeppe and Madelaine Culp, respectively. The rest of the cast was as follows:

Steward and Window Cleaner — Andrew Davey, Mrs. Skinner—Jean Meifeld and Jean Scripture, Otis Skinner—Wallace McGill, Purser—John Sipe, Stewardess—Alice Molohon and Betty Brammell, Dick Winters—Kemit Baumgardner, Armiral—Fred Blackburn, Harriet St. John—Fay White and Wanita Holtsclaw, Winifred Blaugh—Donna Doane and Dorothy Knox, Leo McEvoy—John Myers, Inspector—Phyllis Harland, Therese—Barbara Spray and Shirley Traylor, Madame Elise—Kathleen Snider and Jo Ann Ferrell, Monsieur de la Croix—Phil Hendrix, Student Director—Phyllis Harland.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Under the leadership of Coach Raymond "Buck" Rohrabough, the Frankfort Night Hawks fought an uphill battle during the better part of the year. After winning their first game from Sheridan, 38 to 0, the team looked like they would have an undefeated schedule. The next Friday the Red Devils from Richmond handed the Night Hawks their first setback in one of the team's best-played ball games. Frankfort then tied the Hornets of Howe in a scoreless game. After losing to Logansport in their next game, the Night Hawks came back and walloped their old rivals from Kirklin, 26 to 13. The team then lost to Jeff of Lafayette, Kokomo, West Side, and Monticello.

The team had a record of two wins against six losses and one tie. Two of the members of this year's team were given honor on the all-state team. Bob Irick was given a berth at end on the third team, and John Sipe was given honorable mention. Coach Rohrabough will lose the services of John Sipe, Don Ayers, Brad Blickenstaff, Bill Ruby, John Tedford, Tom Rice, Ed Long, and Jim Robbins on next year's varsity team.

The froshies had a field day at Logansport as they swamped the Berries, 32 to 0.

The ends for this year's team were Robbins and Underhill. At guards were Hill and Triece. Sam Triece also filled in at guard for the varsity team. BASKETBALL

Although Coach Dorwin Dick's Hot Dogs didn't win the sectional tourney this year, they proved to themselves and everybody else that they had the spirit and drive to win. The team looked like a tourney winner during the latter part of the season as they won from Kokomo, Logansport, Richmond, Anderson, and Tipton.

After a shaky start at the opener with Crawfordsville, the Hot Dogs came back and won games from Kokomo and Logansport. The boys then hit a slump in mid-season and didn't pull out until the season was closing.

Two boys on this year's team were seniors, Tom Rice, center, and Jim Pogue, guard. The other members of the varsity team were: Dick Stine, Dick Ricker, Grover Smith, Kenney Ayers, Bob Irick, Bill Ransom, Donald Van Tyle, Jack Leininger, Phil Aldrich, and Bill Ruby.

The Hot Dogs also won the consolation game in the New Year's Day tourney at Michigan City.

"B" TEAM

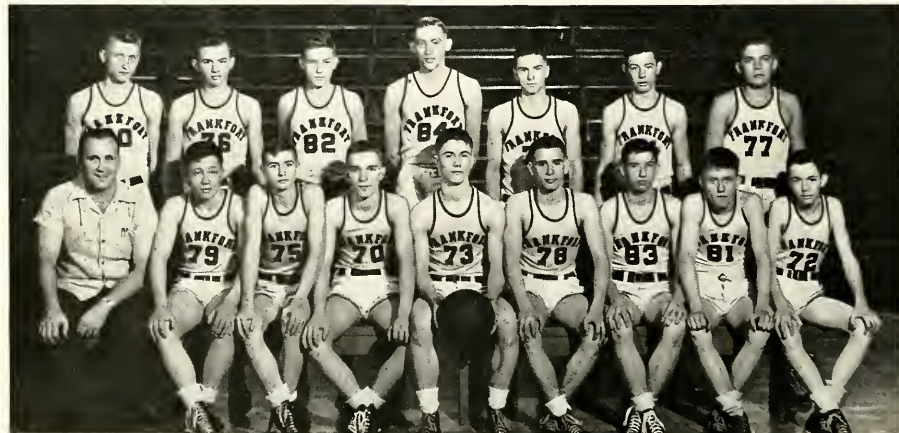

This year's "B" team was under the direction of Coach Glen Scrivnor. Although the team only won three games during the season, they showed the spirit and fight that is needed on all Frankfort teams. The team this year was composed mostly of sophomores and freshmen. The boys did not have much height, but they made up for this with speed. The boys missed the services of Bill Ruby, tall center, during mid-season when he was moved up to the varsity squad.

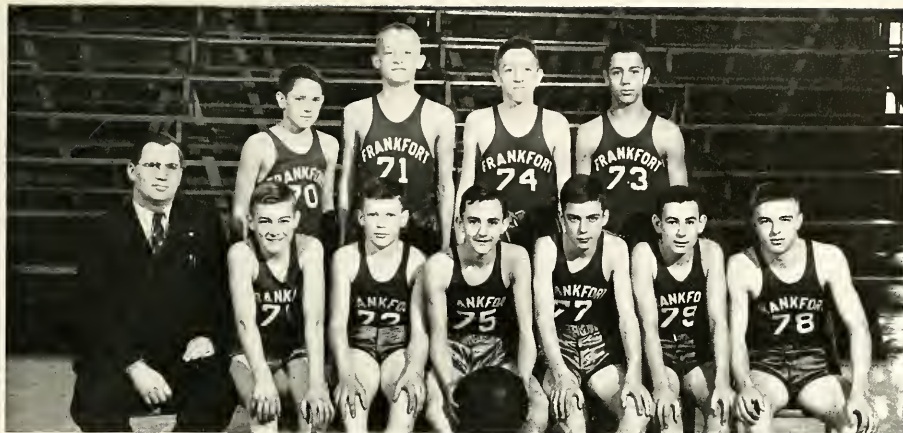

The members of this year's team who won letter awards were: Eddie Baer, Sidney Swift, and Phil Harker at forwards, Sam Triece at center, Tom Carter and George Goodnight at guard positions.

An invitational tourney was held in Howard Hall again this year. Jeff of Lafayette won this tourney, and Frankfort won the consolation game as they downed the Tipton "B" team. Crawfordsville was the fourth team to compete in the tourney. The scores of the season are as follows:

With Jim Baldwin as their coach the junior high team had an impressionable season as they won 13 out of 15 games. The future Hot Dogs were a well balanced team as they had both speed and height. The victories of the season were against Tipton, Elwood, Peru, Delphi, Kokomo, Owen Township, and the Lafayette schools, Lanwood and Longlase with double victories over Delphi, Kokomo, and Owen Township. The future Fighting Five showed a spirit and fight that is needed in all basketball teams.

The freshman basketball team was under the direction of Howard Pace this year. The team had a better than average year as they won seven while only losing three games in regular season play. The team won their opener from Lebanon but lost a return engagement later in the season. The boys also split a game with Jeff of Lafayette. Victims of the frosh this year were Lebanon, Jeff of Lafayette, Elwood, Kokomo twice, and Delphi twice. The invitational tourney was won by Coach Pace and his boys by defeating Jeff in the final game.

Coach Glenn Scrivnor's baseball team held their first practice in Howard Hall on March 10. Only the pitchers and catchers worked out. The rest of the team reported March 17. The early practices were held in Howard Hall since the weather was unfavorable for outside work.

All of last year's team was back with the exception of "Casey" Strange and "Buttercup" Anderson. The addition of several new players to the group made a well-balanced team.

INTRA-MURAL BASKETBALL

Merrill Fishback's team proved to be the school's best Intramural team after they defeated Don Feix's team in the championship finals. Fishback's team was the second semester champion, and was beaten only once in regular season play. Don Feix's team was the champion of the first semester.

Mr. Wayne Shockney, who is the director of Intramural Sports, awarded gold basketballs to the winning team. The members of the winning team are: Captain Merrill Fishback, Carroll Elliott, Charles Shepard, Dick Thornton, Richard Sheets, Don Young, Melvin Pierce. Don Feix received a gold basketball for being the captain of the losing team. Carlisle Gardner received one for being the highest scorer in all Intramural games. He scored a total of 203 points in 18 games. John Tedford also received one for sportsmanship.

Over 80 boys signed up to play each semester. Mr. Shockney chose 10 boys as captains, and these captains in turn chose the boys they wanted for their team. This group of boys is the largest that has turned out in many years. Games were played in the girls' gym.

In winning the championship award, Fishback and his team had to win from the other Intramural teams whose captains were as follows: John Tedford, Phil Cougill, Brad Blickenstaff, Harry Shoemaker, Bill Rush, Dick Pullen, Carlisle Gardner, Don Feix, and Tom Hall.

FIRST SEMESTER INTRA-MURAL BASKETBALL CHAMPIONS

Many an F.H.S. girl could well qualify as a feminine Robin Hood as archery has proved to be one of the more popular sports in the physical education classes.

And of course one can't forget the calisthenics. Although many sore muscles were the result of the exercises, the girls greatly enjoyed them.

Basketball also was one of the favorites. The girls played during their regular gym classes and the gym was often filled with shouting after school as many an exciting game was played then.

Girls' Physical Education

The girls of Frankfort High School presented their annual gym demonstration in Howard Hall on Friday evening, April 18. A variety of European folk dances were given. The girls were dressed in the costume of the countries that the dance represented. The demonstration showed other phases of work being done by the girls. The success of the show was no doubt due to the hard work of Miss Lebew and Miss Foster, girls' physical education directors. They were ably assisted by Mr. Alan Ross, pianist, and the band under the direction of Mr. William Kleyla.

Soccer, which originated in England, is a very vigorous sport, and is one of the girls' favorites. It is an outdoor game, and can be played either in the spring or fall.

The girls play at Case Field. There are eleven girls on a team. The object of the game is to kick the ball past the goalie.

Basketball, the popular Hoosier sport, is in the limelight during the winter months. Many evenings after school the girls meet in the gym and hold interclass competition. Instead of the five players as on a boys' team there are six.

Girls, also, show a great interest in volleyball, one of the fastest sports played by the girls. It takes skill to bat the ball back and forth across the net without letting it touch the floor. It is an indoor sport and is also played during the winter months.

Other sports, such as softball, badminton, deck tennis, archery, and others, are played during their correct seasons.

Any girl who has ever taken physical education will remember the words "Dress right!" as they lined up for roll call at the beginning of each class.

The Frankfort Golf Team last year met Logansport's young hopefuls on the local links and participated in the North Central Conference meet in which they placed seventh. Last year's team was composed of Trobaugh, Van Tyle, Furnish, and Walker. Trobaugh and Van Tyle were back for this year.

The team for this year was decided by competitive play before the season's opening. Raymond Rohrbaugh was the coach, and "Buz" Storm, the pro of the Country Club, gave his advice during the season.

The first practice was scheduled for April 7, and a fair-sized group of prospective players were expected to turn out. From this group four players were selected for play in the meets. The local course is considered more difficult than the average golf course. For this reason much time must be spent in mastering the hazards. Last year the wet spring grounds were a hindrance to early practices. Almost all of the candidates for this year's team have had experience in golf as players during the summer months.

A tentative schedule for this year includes West Lafayette, Jefferson of Lafayette, Logansport, the North Central Conference Meet, and the State Meet. Other meets may be added as the season progresses. This schedule gives much tough competition and will test the ability of the F. H. S. players.

T E N N I S

This year the Frankfort Tennis Team will be coached by Jim Baldwin. The team will use Dorner Park as their home court for practice and for games. Plans are trying to be made for a triangular meet this year with Kokomo, Jefferson of Lafayette, and Frankfort. Tennis will not be a recognized sport in the North Central Conference this year, and will not count any points toward the winning the North Central Conference trophy. Tennis will be a recognized sport in the North Central Conference starting next year. Members of this year's team will include: Tom Hall, who was the boy's single champion of last year; Jack Leininger, who was runner-up in the boys' single tournament; Grover Smith, who was in the finals of singles championship; Bob Elliott, Tom Carter, and Andrew Davey.

Tom Hall and Andrew Davey combined their talents to win the boys' double championship award during the summer months.

Only one boy will be lost from the team next year. With the experience the boys will receive this season, Frankfort should have a tennis team to be proud of.

This is the first time in several years that Frankfort has had a tennis team. These boys play in a local tournament every summer at Dorner's Park. Business men of the city give a trophy to the winner of the boys' single championship, and trophies to the doubles champions.
